

Amanda White

Assessment Analyst, BC Assessment

Kelowna, BC

Amanda, currently employed as an Assessment Analyst at BC Assessment since 2022, resides in Kelowna, British Columbia. She is currently pursuing an Appraisal Designation through the Post Graduate Certificate of Valuation Program at the University of British Columbia's Real Estate Division. Before her tenure at BC Assessment, Amanda lived in Australia, where she held the position of Financial Planner. In this capacity, she was responsible for delivering goals-based financial planning advice within the South West region of Western Australia, an experience that broadened her perspective and honed her skills in providing strategic financial guidance.

Eager to expand her knowledge and contribute to the assessment industry, Amanda is keen on joining the International Association of Assessing Officers (IAAO). The IAAO's reputation for offering unparalleled networking and educational opportunities aligns perfectly with her professional aspirations. Her goal is not only to learn more about the intricacies of the field but also to actively participate in fostering growth and success within the IAAO chapter.

As a prospective executive member of the IAAO, Amanda envisions contributing to the chapter's success by increasing its profile and membership. With a passion for continuous learning and a dedication to the advancement of the field, she is excited about the prospect of leveraging her skills and experience to make a meaningful impact within the IAAO community.
